DEAR INVESTOR,

Subject: Prevention of Money Laundering

Money laundering is a process of making dirty money clean. Money is moved around the financial system again and again in such manner that its origin gets hidden.

It involves complex chain of activities whereby huge amount of money generated from illegitimate activities viz. selling of narcotic drugs, extortion, corruption, illicit dealing in weapons, human trafficking etc. Is put through a series of process so that it comes out at the other end as clean and legal money. Terrorist organization encourage money laundering to support their illegal acts.

It is important to note that due to increased vigilance in the wake of emanating from increasing terrorism, any failure on our part to discharge the duties cast on under the applicable laws or we becoming an instrumental or a part of the chain, even if unknowingly, may invite the trouble.

In order to fight against the money laundering and terrorist financing the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA) was brought into force w.e.f July 1, 2005 in India. Guidelines were also issued in the context of the recommendations made by the financial Action Task Force on antimoney laundering standards. Compliance with these standards has become imperative for international financial relations.

PMLA is applicable to every Intermediary registered with Securities & Exchange Board of India (SEBI), which includes a stockbroker, depository participant, portfolio manager, sub-broker and any other intermediary associated with securities market.

As per provisions PMLA, the Intermediaries are required to comply with Your Client (KYC) norms, conduct on ongoing client due diligence to ensure that the activity being conducted in any accounts is consistent with the Intermediary's knowledge of the client, its business and risk profile.

In light of the above, you are requested to provide the information or documents evidencing source of funds, income tax returns, bank records, demat holding etc, at the time of registration as a client with us or subsequent whenever asked for during the course of your dealings with us.

Generally, higher the volatility of a security/derivatives contract, greater is its price swings. There may be normally greater volatility in thinly traded securities / derivatives contracts than in active securities /derivatives contracts. As a result of volatility, your order may only be partially executed or not executed at all, or the price at which your order got executed may be substantially different from the last traded price or change substantially thereafter, resulting in notional or real losses.

1.2 Risk of Lower Liquidity:

Liquidity refers to the ability of market participants to buy and/or sell securities / derivatives contracts expeditiously at a competitive price and with minimal price difference. Generally, it is assumed that more the numbers of orders available in a market, greater is the liquidity. Liquidity is important because with greater liquidity, it is easier for investors to buy and/or sell securities / derivatives contracts swiftly and with minimal price difference, and as a result, investors are more likely to pay or receive a competitive price for securities / derivatives contracts purchased or sold. There may be a risk of lower liquidity in some securities / derivatives contracts as compared to active securities / derivatives contracts. As a result, your order may only be partially executed, or may be executed with relatively greater price difference or may not be executed at all.

1.2.1 Buying or selling securities / derivatives contracts as part of a day trading strategy may also result into losses, because in such a situation, securities / derivatives contracts may have to be sold / purchased at low / high prices, compared to the expected price levels, so as not to have any open position or obligation to deliver or receive a security / derivatives contract.

1.3 Risk of Wider Spreads:

Spread refers to the difference in best buy price and best sell price. It represents the differential between the price of buying a security / derivatives contract and immediately selling it or vice versa. Lower liquidity and higher volatility may result in wider than normal spreads for less liquid or illiquid securities / derivatives contracts. This in turn will hamper better price formation.

1.4 Risk-reducing orders:

The placing of orders (e.g., "stop loss" orders, or "limit" orders) which are intended to limit losses to certain amounts may not be effective many a time because rapid movement in market conditions may make it impossible to execute such orders.

1.4.1 A "market" order will be executed promptly, subject to availability of orders on opposite side, without regard to price and that, while the customer may receive a prompt execution of a "market" order, the execution may be at available prices of outstanding orders, which satisfy the order quantity, on price time priority. It may be understood that these prices may be significantly different from the last traded price or the best price in that security / derivatives contract.

1.4.2 A "limit" order will be executed only at the "limit" price specified for the order or a better price. However, while the customer receives price protection, there is a possibility that the order may not be executed at all.

1.4.3 A stop loss order is generally placed "away" from the current price of a stock / derivatives contract, and such order gets activated if and when the security / derivatives contract reaches, or trades through, the stop price. Sell stop orders are entered ordinarily below the current price, and buy stop orders are entered ordinarily above the current price. When the security / derivatives contract reaches the pre-determined price, or trades through such price, the stop loss order converts to a market/limit order and is executed at the limit or better. There is no assurance therefore that the limit order will be executable since a security / derivatives contract might penetrate the pre-determined price, in which case, the risk of such order not getting executed arises, just as with a regular limit order.

1.5 Risk of News Announcements:

News announcements that may impact the price of stock / derivatives contract may occur during trading, and when combined with lower liquidity and higher volatility, may suddenly cause an unexpected positive or negative movement in the price of the security / contract.

1.6 Risk of Rumors:

Rumors about companies / currencies at times float in the market through word of mouth, newspapers, websites or news agencies, etc. The investors should be wary of and should desist from acting on rumors.

1.7 System Risk:

High volume trading will frequently occur at the market opening and before market close. Such high volumes may also occur at any point in the day. These may cause delays in order execution or confirmation.

1.7.1 During periods of volatility, on account of market participants continuously modifying their order quantity or prices or placing fresh orders, there may be delays in order execution and its confirmations.

1.7.2 Under certain market conditions, it may be difficult or impossible to liquidate a position in the market at a reasonable price or at all, when there are no outstanding orders either on the buy side or the sell side, or if trading is halted in a security / derivatives contract due to any action on account of unusual trading activity or security / derivatives contract hitting circuit filters or for any other reason.

1.8 System/Network Congestion:

Trading on exchanges is in electronic mode, based on satellite/leased line based communications, combination of technologies and computer systems to place and route orders. Thus, there exists a possibility of communication failure or system problems or slow or delayed response from system or trading halt, or any such other problem/glitch whereby not being able to establish access to the trading system/network, which may be beyond control and may result in delay in processing or not processing buy or sell orders either in part or in full. You are cautioned to note that although these problems may be temporary in nature, but when you have outstanding open positions or unexecuted orders, these represent a risk because of your obligations to settle all executed transactions.

2. As far as Derivatives segments are concerned, please note and get yourself acquainted with the following additional features:-

2.1 Effect of "Leverage" or "Gearing":

In the derivatives market, the amount of margin is small relative to the value of the derivatives contract so the transactions are 'leveraged' or 'geared'. Derivatives trading, which is conducted with a relatively small amount of margin, provides the possibility of great profit or loss in comparison with the margin amount. But transactions in derivatives carry a high degree of risk. You should therefore completely understand the following statements before actually trading in derivatives and also trade with caution while taking into account one's circumstances, financial resources, etc. If the prices move against you, you may lose a part of or whole margin amount in a relatively short period of time. Moreover, the loss may exceed the original margin amount.

A. Futures trading involve daily settlement of all positions. Every day the open positions are marked to market based on the closing level of the index / derivatives contract. If the contract has moved against you, you will be required to deposit the amount of loss (notional) resulting from such movement. This amount will have to be paid within a stipulated time frame, generally before commencement of trading on next day.

B. If you fail to deposit the additional amount by the deadline or if an outstanding debt occurs in your account, the stock broker may liquidate a part of or the whole position or substitute securities. In this case, you will be liable for any losses incurred due to such close-outs.

C. Under certain market conditions, an investor may find it difficult or impossible to execute transactions. For example, this situation can occur due to factors such as illiquidity i.e. when there are insufficient bids or offers or suspension of trading due to price limit or circuit breakers etc.

D. In order to maintain market stability, the following steps may be adopted: changes in the margin rate, increases in the cash margin rate or others. These new measures may also be applied to the existing open interests. In such conditions, you will be required to put up additional margins or reduce your positions.

E. You must ask your broker to provide the full details of derivatives contracts you plan to trade i.e. the contract specifications and the associated obligations.

2.2 Currency specific risks:

1. The profit or loss in transactions in foreign currency denominated contracts, whether they are traded in your own or another jurisdiction will be affected by fluctuations in currency rates where there is a need to convert from the currency denomination of the contract to another currency.

2. Under certain market conditions, you may find it difficult or impossible to liquidate a position. This can occur, for example when a currency is deregulated or fixed trading bands are widened.

3. Currency prices are highly volatile. Price movements for currencies are influenced by, among other things: changing supply-demand relationships; trade, fiscal, monetary, exchange control programs and policies of governments; foreign political and economic events and policies; changes in national and international interest rates and inflation; currency devaluation; and sentiment of the market place. None of these factors can be controlled by any individual advisor and no assurance can be given that an advisor's advice will result in profitable trades for a participating customer or that a customer will not incur losses from such events.

2.3 Risk of Option holders:

1. An option holder runs the risk of losing the entire amount paid for the option in a relatively short period of time. This risk reflects the nature of an option as a wasting asset which becomes worthless when it expires. An option holder who neither sells his option in the secondary market nor exercises it prior to its expiration will necessarily lose his entire investment in the option. If the price of the underlying does not change in the anticipated direction before the option expires, to an extent sufficient to cover the cost of the option, the investor may lose all or a significant part of his investment in the option.

2. The Exchanges may impose exercise restrictions and have absolute authority to restrict the exercise of options at certain times in specified circumstances.

2.4 Risks of Option Writers:

1. If the price movement of the underlying is not in the anticipated direction, the option writer runs the risks of losing substantial amount.

2. The risk of being an option writer may be reduced by the purchase of other options on the same underlying interest and thereby assuming a spread position or by acquiring other types of hedging positions in the options markets or other markets. However, even where the writer has assumed a spread or other hedging position, the risks may still be significant. A spread position is not necessarily less risky than a simple 'long' or 'short' position.

Conti.....

3. Transactions that involve buying and writing multiple options in combination, or buying or writing options in combination with buying or selling short the underlying interests, present additional risks to investors. Combination transactions, such as option spreads, are more complex than buying or writing a single option. And it should be further noted that, as in any area of investing, a complexity not well understood is, in itself, a risk factor. While this is not to suggest that combination strategies should not be considered, it is advisable, as is the case with all investments in options, to consult with someone who is experienced and knowledgeable with respect to the risks and potential rewards of combination transactions under various market circumstances.

TRADING THROUGH WIRELESS TECHNOLOGY / SMART ORDER ROUTING OR ANY OTHER TECHNOLOGY:

RMS Policies and Procedures

A. Setting up client's exposure limits

The Exchange may from time to time fix client exposure limits in the interest of orderly working of the markets. Within that overall ceiling, a client can trade within the exposure limit set from time to time by the Broker for the client.

Exposure Limit is fixed on the basis of the funds and value after hair- cut of the securities provided by the client for margin. Clients are requested to adhere to the exposure limits as crossing the limit may involve either a call for margin or restriction on further position / exposure.

FIPL may need to vary or reduce or impose new limits urgently on the basis of risk perception, risk profile of the client and other factors considered relevant including but not limited to limits on account of Exchange / SEBI directions / Limits (such as broker level / market level limits in security specific / volume specific exposures etc.).

Sometimes the FIPL may be unable to inform the client of such variation, reduction or imposition in advance. FIPL shall not be held responsible for such variation, reduction or the client's inability to route any order through trading system on account of any such variation, reduction or imposition of limits.

In the sole discretion of the Stock Broker, a client may be allowed to trade beyond exposure limit or the limit may be increased. A client having availed such indulgence shall not be heard to complain about his trades only on this account and shall meet the margin shortfall at the earliest without waiting for reminder. The golden rule is Limit your exposure so as to limit your risk to your means.

1. While computing the available margin following parameter consider:

- Margin based limit is set on combined basis for Cash & F&O Segment
 - Clear credit lying in client's settlement and margin ledger account
 - "Client Collateral Account" holdings (after deduction of applicable hair-cut)
 - Any Online funds transfer or hold amount through bank gateway
 - Credit received against sale of securities
 - Margin amount of open positions (in case of derivatives)
 - Outstation cheques are not entertained. All the cheques collected against trading positions should carry a valid MICR number.
 - All the cheque dishonor cases are viewed seriously and debit amounts in such accounts will be cleared from surveillance dept. The normal rule for 5 days debit will not be applicable while selling the shares in cheque dishonor issues.
2. Exposure limits shall be only against approved securities as decided by the Exchanges / FIPL from time to time. FIPL may from time to time change the applicable hair cut or apply a haircut higher than that specified by the Regulators/ Exchanges.

3. In case of derivatives, Clients shall be allowed to trade only up to the applicable client wise position limits set by the Exchanges / Regulators from time to time.

- Use Online Trading Carefully: If you're into trading, learn how the share market works and understand the risks involved.
- Enable Two-Factor Authentication (2FA): Keep your Demat account safe by using strong and unique passwords and don't share them with anyone. Turn on two-factor authentication (2FA) security, it will provide extra security to your Demat account.
- DIS Check: When you receive the DIS (Delivery Instruction Slip) book, make sure that your account number or client ID, as well as serial numbers, are already printed on each slip.
- Keep track of your portfolio: You should regularly monitor how your investments are doing in the market. This helps you know if they're making money or losing it. If something consistently going down or up for a while, you can make the right decisions about what to do next.
- Skip Power of Attorney/DDPI: You don't need to give a power of attorney when you apply for an online Demat account. This is important because there have been several instances of power of attorney abuse so it's better to avoid it when setting up your account online.
- Register for CDSL's internet-based facility 'easi' to monitor your demat account yourself. Contact your DP for details.
- Register for CDSL's SMS Alert facility - SMART and obtain alerts for any debits or credits due to a corporate action, in your demat account
- Accept the DIS book from your DP only if each slip has been pre-printed with a serial number along with your demat account number and keep it in safe custody.
- Always mention the details like ISIN, number of securities accurately. In case of any queries, please contact your DP or broker.
- Ensure that all demat account holder(s) sign on the DIS.
- Please strike out the any blank space on the slip.
- Cancellations or corrections on the DIS should be initialed or signed by all the account holder(s).
- Submit the DIS ahead of the delivery date for all type of market transactions. DIS can be issued with a future execution date.
- Intimate any change of address or change in bank account details to your DP immediately.
- Check the investor service record of the issuer company with your DP before deciding to send certificates for demat. The list of companies whose demat request are pending is published at www.cdslindia.com.
- Before sending securities for demat, record the distinctive numbers of the securities sent.
- Before granting Power of Attorney (PoA) to anyone, to operate your demat account, carefully examine the scope & implications of powers being granted.
- PoA/DDPI is not mandatory for opening a demat account.
- The demat account has a nomination facility and it is advisable to appoint a nominee, in case of sole account holders. • Ensure that, both, your holding and transaction statements are received periodically as instructed to your DP.

- You are entitled to receive a transaction statement every month if you have any transactions and once a quarter if there have been no transactions in your account.
- Check your demat account statement on receipt. In case you notice any unauthorized debits or credits, contact your DP for clarification. If not resolved, you may contact CDSL's Investor Relations Officer, Ms. Tara Ajit, Central Depository Services (India) Ltd., 17th Floor, P.J.Towers, Dalal Street, Mumbai - 400 001, Tel. 2272 8629 , emailcomplaints@cdslindia.com

Don'ts

- Do not forget to dematerialize your shares, this is easy to do. If the broker sends you a reminder, as it is your responsibility, not the broker's.
- Do not invest more than what you can afford to lose, a good rule of thumb is to keep your investment amount at a level that would not impact your lifestyle if it comes to an end.
- Do not invest without proper research or knowledge of a company's fundamentals just because some new investor or adviser is promoting it to you. Invest after a thorough analysis of its financial status, management track record, and prospects.
- Don't invest your money blindly because you saw advice on TV, ads, websites, or received SMS messages. Always do your homework by researching the company's finances, growth potential, and other important factors before investing in stocks, futures, options, or any other securities.
- Do not share your password – In our digital age, it's crucial to be cautious with your online security. Don't share your login details or passwords with anyone, also, never give out your OTP (One-Time Password) to stay safe from fraudsters.
- Always pay attention to emails or SMS messages you get from your broker or the stock exchange about your trades. Double-check these messages by comparing them with your Contract Notes or Account Ledger. If you find any differences, let your broker or the exchange know right away.
- When you're trading or investing, only transfer money to an account belonging to a SEBI-registered broker. This can protect you from potential fraud.
- Avoid Overtrading. Overtrading can lead to substantial losses, so stick to your investment plan and avoid making impulsive decisions.
- Do not leave your instruction slip book with anyone else.
- Do not sign blank DIS as it is equivalent to a bearer cheque.
- Avoid over-writing, cancellations, misspellings, changing of the name and quantity of securities.
- We request you to meticulously follow the above instructions, to avoid any problem in operation of your demat account.

Conclusion

To reach your financial goals, remember to follow the dos and don'ts. Along with doing your research and being patient. This list is a helpful guide, but you'll also learn more by gaining personal experience as you start investing. So, invest wisely and work towards your long-term financial objectives.
